

Green Poppies

About us

Green Poppies is a Singapore fashion jewellery brand specialising in semi-precious gemstones styles. Established since 2009, its design studio caters for customised jewellery designs for their customers.

Our Views on HR

We believe in lifelong learning for our staffs. On job training is one of the most effective way in our industry. Our people is multi-talented, they need to have good customer services, good technical skills on arranging flowers and gifts, good operation skills on flower replenishment and merchandise display. Through on job training at work place, knowledge upgrade at class room will develop a professional florist.

Student's Feedback

Students who have interned at our company felt that they have gained a huge insight and knowledge in the fashion industry. Since they get to be involved in many areas from design to production and marketing, it helps them understand how each process is important and interconnected.

Collaborations with IHLs

We have collaborated with IHLs in engaging interns for our company for the past 2 years. They are from various design backgrounds and we enjoy a creative exchange of ideas and knowledge.
